Showdown Vote On FEPC Due In Legislature

New Civil Rights Commission Expected To Get Assembly OK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A showdown vote on fair employment practices (FEP) tops the calendar for Ohio legislators returning tonight from weekend adjournment.

The House convenes at 7:30 p.m.; the Senate a half hour later.

Majority Leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas) said the Senate will vote Wednesday on a Democratic policy bill to prevent racial discrimination in employment. Similar proposals have failed in recent GOP-controlled sessions.

But Democrats predicted passage of this session of a bill endorsed in principle by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle. It would create a State Civil Rights Commission composed of five members paid $5,000 annually and a $12,000 a year executive director. Commission decisions would be enforced through the courts.

House Democrats will carry on the supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) fight, passed along to them by the Senate.

The Senate-approved measure to allow simultaneous payment of SUB and state jobless compensation goes to the House Industry and Labor Committee for hearings. Regardless of whether hearings get under way this week, leaders said the measure will do an early floor vote.

Two more messages from the governor and hearings on 72 bills and resolutions will round out the week's activities.

DiSalle said his messages will deal with public health and with law and order, the latter containing "something special."

Wednesday's Senate session opens at 4 p.m., two hours later than usual, so members can attend a meeting at the state fairgrounds called by DiSalle.

The governor has invited representatives of business, labor, government and civic organizations to give their views on creation of a new State Department of Economic and Industrial Development. About 1,000 are expected.

A hearing by the House Public Welfare Committee took on added significance with a call by the governor for a get-tough policy towards nursing home operators.

The committee Wednesday will conduct a second hearing on a bill proposing to place rest homes under the state health director.

The House Conservation Committee called for a third hearing Tuesday on a proposal for a season to shoot quail, now protected from hunters.

A proposal for a $1.25 an hour minimum wage law will get another hearing by the House Industry and Labor Committee Wednesday night.

Senate committees Tuesday will hear bills permitting voting machine polls to stay open until 8 p.m. on election night, banning horse racing on Good Friday, removing the $65 monthly ceiling on old age pensions and doubling city's share of court fines for law libraries.

Hearings Wednesday will consider bills to take the sales tax off restaurant meals and prescription drugs and a resolution memorializing Congress against an increase in federal gasoline taxes.

80 Mph. Collision Leaves 10 Dead

ALAMO, Tex. (AP) — Ten persons were killed on a rain-slick highway Sunday in a shattering automobile crash that jammed the speedometer on one vehicle at 80 m.p.h.

Four of the dead were children. The head-on collision occurred seven miles south of here in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, practically on the Texas-Mexico border.

Muddy rescue workers pried and tugged for more than an hour to remove nine bodies from one crumpled automobile.

Highway patrolman M. L. Dailey said the speedometer on the car of John T. Closser, a father of eight, was struck at 80 miles per hour. Closser was traveling east and the other car west, Dailey said.

Dems Pledge Aid On Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats promised today a full measure of cooperation with the Eisenhower administration on foreign policies during Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' illness.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said after a conference with Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) of the Foreign Relations Committee that Democrats will do everything they can to help keep administration foreign policies intact.

"It will be the policy of the majority to advise and consult with the administration in every possible way in an attempt to help them develop a strong, positive foreign policy," Johnson said.

Surprise Sub Attack Feared

Navy Sees Real Danger From Russian U-Boats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, has told Congress the Navy is greatly concerned about the possibility of a surprise Soviet submarine attack on the United States.

Testimony by Burke, chief of naval operations, and William C. Foster, a leading American international public over the weekend. They testified before the Senate Disarmament subcommittee Jan. 30.

Foster said stepped-up development of missiles and other military weapons would strengthen the hand of the United States in disarmament talks with the Soviet Union.

Burke told the senators the Navy has forces searching up and down both coasts all the time for enemy submarines.

Problems of the ocean pose a greater threat to U.S. security than those of outer space, a scientific committee contends.

The danger of attack by submarine-launched missiles is only one of several hazards the United States faces unless it speeds up deep sea research, said the report by a 10-man committee of the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council.

The committee proposed an additional federal outlay of $651,410,000 during the next decade for sea research if the nation is to avoid what it called serious military, political and economic hazards.

Better weather forecasting facilities and possible means of developing food and mineral resources in the oceans were cited as potential gains.

From the military standpoint, the committee said: "The submarine armed with long-range missiles is probably the most potent weapon system threatening our security today."

AFL-CIO Chieftains Seek Plan To Curb Unemployment

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — AFL-CIO leaders gathered today in this Caribbean resort to plan how to combat unemployment back on the mainland and how to capitalize on the favorable political complexion of Congress.

The union chiefs, here for their winter meeting, cheered advance word from Washington that legislation they long have wanted is about to be introduced to raise the $1 an hour minimum wage to $1.25.

Members of the AFL-CIO Executive Council were less communicative on what they may do about a second snub from President Maurice Neuchese of the Carpenters Union to their request to explain his refusal to answer questions of the Senate Labor-Management Committee.

This is the second time Hutchison, a council member, has failed to answer an invitation from the group to personally explain questioned expenditures of his union as well as his indictment in an Indiana land scandal.

The labor leaders were torn between wanting to keep their anti-corruption drive in high gear and the fear that if they administer a public spanking to Hutchison, he will make good a dare to pull his 850,000-member union out of the AFL-CIO.

George Meany, the AFL-CIO president who is directing the federation's anti-corruption drive, was delayed in arriving from Washington by a cold. But Meany was reported not willing to lose the Carpenters from the AFL-CIO family as happened when the federation ousted the Teamsters Union.

Boosting the amount and coverage of the federal minimum wage long has been an AFL-CIO goal. Union leaders said they expected Sens. John Sparkman (D-Ala) and Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), other members of the committee, made similar pledges in separate interviews.

Dulles, in Walter Reed Army Hospital, starts this week a series of radiation treatments for cancer. The new malignancy, announced Saturday, was discovered after a hernia operation Dulles had undergone the day before.

The State Department said Sunday that Dulles' condition "continues satisfactory." During the day the secretary talked for about 15 minutes with Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter.

Herter, returning Saturday night from a South Carolina vacation, told newsmen he would accept appointment as secretary of state if President Eisenhower asked him to.

Eisenhower said Saturday that Dulles would continue on the leave of absence he obtained to undergo the operation and said "I will, of course, be in close touch with him constantly."

Dulles' doctors, meantime, gave him a fighting chance to recover enough from the cancer to remain on the job at least part time. They took the view it is still too early to tell what course Dulles' illness may take, especially in a man of his strength and will power. Although Dulles will be 71 this month, he resumed a full work schedule after a cancer operation in 1956 and has battled off other illnesses since then.

DuPont Target Again of U.S. Trust Suit

CHICAGO (AP) — The government today begins another chapter of its 10-year legal battle to divest E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. of its vast holdings in General Motors Corp.

The current phase of the anti-trust action is to decide the disposition of 63 million shares of GM stock held by Du Pont and two holding companies. The hearings before U.S. Dist. Judge Walter J. Labay are expected to continue at least five weeks.

Government attorneys have asked Judge Labay to order the stock sold on the open market or distributed to individual Du Pont shareholders.

Counsel for Du Pont and GM are seeking a ruling that would permit the big chemical firm to keep its GM stock but pass voting rights to individual Du Pont shareholders.

They contend Du Pont would suffer huge tax losses if the stock were sold and that dumping of the huge number of shares on the open market would bring about a sharp price drop.

Symington Urges Bigger Missile Pile

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) says the United States could make a great many more missiles if it wanted to.

Disagreeing with President Eisenhower's view that the nation is going forward with missiles as rapidly as possible under the present setup, Symington said: "He (Eisenhower) may say that we are going forward as rapidly as possible, because he believes we are spending as much money as we should in the missile field. That is his opinion. I do not agree."

Symington, who has been mentioned by some as a possibility for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, said he would favor more taxes if that meant greater security.

Symington, in a television interview said the nation needs these things to be secure:

- (1) Strength to get up off the ground if attacked, and retaliate in turn and destroy the possible enemy;
- (2) assurance that the enemy knows the nation has such power;
- (3) ability to fight a limited war "effectively, efficiently and successfully."

Segni Sworn As Premier Of Italy

Christian Democrats Alone Form Latest Cabinet in Rome

ROME (AP) — Antonio Segni was sworn in today as head of Italy's government.

His Cabinet was made up entirely of members of his own Christian Democrat party, which has less than a majority in Parliament. Promised right-wing support from Liberals and Monarchists made Segni virtually sure of winning at least his first vote of confidence, probably within a week.

President Giovanni Gronchi swore Segni into office after approving his cabinet lineup.

Segni needed no parliamentary vote of confidence to assume office. But late this week or early next both the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate must approve the Cabinet. Failure to get this would force him to resign.

The 68-year-old leader's Cabinet is limited to Christian Democrats only. The party, although Italy's largest, is 26 votes short of the 299 necessary for a majority in the Chamber of Deputies. It falls four votes short of a Senate majority.

The Liberals, a right-of-center group with 4 seats in the Senate and 17 deputies, have agreed to back the Segni government on the first confidence votes. The new premier is expected to pick up the nine additional necessary deputies from the 23 Monarchists in the chamber.

Segni, a Sardinian, fashioned a government leaning slightly to the right. But his Cabinet includes one important man—Foreign Minister Giuseppe Pella—whose appointment could cause trouble with the Liberals.

Pella is identified with a policy of friendship for President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Zooming Car Crashes Into Fuel Pumps

A zooming car played havoc with three gasoline pumps at Goodman's Service Station, Court and Watt Sts., early Sunday morning.

According to local police, an auto owned by Kelly L. Owens, Jr., 18, Route 1, Ashville, made a wild dash down N. Court St., smashed through the bas pumps, continued east on Watt St., then north on Pickaway St. before the auto finally was brought to a halt. Owens was arrested for driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Larry Goodman, station manager, said damage to his gas pumps was estimated at $2,000. He said two of the pumps were replaced yesterday afternoon.

Patrolmen Richard Blaney said Owens car dragged one of the pumps 87 feet into Watt St. and sent another scotching along for 62 feet. The crash also damaged two pylon lights on the gasoline pump island.

According to witnesses in a car which was passing by, they saw Owens' car coming south on Court St., at a high rate of speed, traveling in the wrong lane of traffic.

They said the auto suddenly swerved to the right near the Circleville Herald office, then made a cutting left sweep into the station runway.

The witnesses said the car smashed through the pumps and continued on with no apparent effort to stop. In an attempt to stop the car, the witnesses said they turned east on High St. and caught the car at Pickaway St.

Owens told officers that he was traveling 90 miles per hour, although police doubted that the car was going that fast.

Big Darby Bridge Extension Likely, Says State Official

A 160-foot extension to the Route 104 bridge over Big Darby Creek is likely, it was reported today by a Jackson Twp. Committee.

The group, composed of Mrs. Marvyn Rhodes, George Mowery, Allen Hoover and Ed Wallace, state representative from Pickaway County, met Wednesday with officials of the Ohio Highway Department.

D. C. McCoy, Director of Bridges in the Highway Department, stated that plans for an additional 160-foot span are ready as soon as money is made available.

The estimated cost of the project is between $75-80,000 at no cost to the county. The project will be accomplished without necessity of a detour on Route 104.

THE COMMITTEE action with McCoy was a result of a recent meeting of Jackson Twp. and surrounding area residents who were damaged by the January 22 and 23 flood.

Residents were in accord that the low Big Darby bridge over Route 104 created a bottleneck that caused high water to back up into farm lands northwest of 104. Highway officials agreed.

An additional span would allow excessive water more room to flow under the bridge on into the Scioto, its only outlet. McCoy said he believed that money would be available in the near future and the bridge addition completed by summer's end.

McCoy stated the Highway Department may obtain Federal funds for extension of the bridge. Two other engineers were present at the meeting. One was Ralph Wood, former County resident.

Wood said he would contact the U. S. Army Engineers to see if any relief could be arranged in the rebuilding of the Big Darby levees that were eroded or washed away by the flood.

Rep. Wallace Urges Farmers To Check on Disaster Loans

Pickaway County farmers suffering loss or damage as a result of January's Scioto River flood today were urged to investigate Federal assistance available from the Farmers Home Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This suggestion was made by State Representative Ed Wallace after receiving a letter from Sixth Congressional District Representative James G. Polk.

Polk stated he had talked with an official in the Farmers Administration office in Washington, D. C. and was advised that his Department had not received any word of widespread damage to farmers in this area.

Polk said he was therefore to contact the State Director of the Farmers Home Administration, whose job it is to notify the agency's Washington administration when an emergency arises.

Polk urged Wallace and county residents to keep him advised concerning the county situation for he wants to do everything he possibly can to help the people in stricken areas.

FARMERS ELIGIBLE for production emergency loans must be an established owner or operator who is primarily engaged in farming and has suffered a substantial production loss because of flood.

It is unable to obtain from other lenders the credit required to continue his normal operations, and has reasonable prospects for success with the assistance of a loan.

Loans may be made for the purchase of feed, seed, fertilizer, replacement equipment and livestock; for other essential farm and home operating expenses.

And for the replacement or repair of buildings, fences, drainage and irrigation systems on individual farms that were damaged or destroyed by the disaster.

Loans may not be made for refinancing existing debts or to compensate applicants for their losses.

The interest rate is 3 per cent. Repayment schedules depend upon the purposes for which funds are advanced and upon the estimated income of the applicant.

Loans are secured by a first lien on all crops to be produced with the loan and on all livestock, farm machinery and farm equipment purchased with the loan funds.

Secondly, the best lien obtainable on all other crops growing or to be grown, and third, whenever necessary, the best lien obtainable on livestock, farm machinery and farm equipment already owned by the applicant.

Full information concerning production emergency loans, as well as application forms, may be obtained from Wallace, 217 S. Court St., or the Farmers Home Administration office, Columbus.

Indiana Flood Moves South

Oaktown Farm Area Now Center of Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The farming area near Oaktown, Ind., became the main center of activity along the flooded Wabash River today as the danger in upstream communities appeared easing.

National Guardsmen were sent by Gov. Harold W. Handley into the Oaktown area, about 40 miles south of Terre Haute, to strengthen an old levee. A break in the levee would flood thousands of acres of farm land.

Dry weather prevailed in the flood zones and also in wide areas throughout the country east of the Rockies. The country's wettest region was in the Pacific Coast.

Officials in the flood sections of Indiana, which forced some 1,700 families from their homes last week, said barring heavy rains, the worst of the overflows appeared ended.

However, Weather Bureau officials said it would be two weeks before the Wabash falls below flood stage at West Terre Haute. A temporary dike of sandbags held Sunday against another small rise in the swollen river. A huge ice jam remained near Delphi although thawing temperatures over the weekend dislodged some big chunks.

Cooler weather moved into two separate sections east of the Continental Divide. Temperatures dropped in most areas from eastern Texas and the Gulf Coast to the Ohio River and to all of the Atlantic Seaboard except Florida.

Biggest drops were in New England, where readings were below zero in northern sections.

A second cold front extended from areas in Montana east of the Divide and into the Dakotas. The cold air headed into the central plains and eastward to the upper and middle Mississippi Valleys and the upper Great Lakes region.

Pistol-Packing Boys Disarmed by Police

ATLANTA (AP) — Two pistol-packing youngsters were arrested by police who said the pair stole dynamite and guns so they could build a rocket ship and "play western like on TV."

The boys, aged 13 and 14, were arrested as they walked home from target practice in a field. Police said each had three pistols tucked in his belt. Officers said they found 154 sticks of dynamite, 305 caps, 17 pistols and 20 boxes of ammunition hidden in lofts of the homes where the boys lived.

The arsenal was taken from a lumber company and a hardware concern. Police quoted the boys as saying it was fun to steal when not attending eighth grade classes.

Local Agencies Should Gather Revenue-DiSalle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said today local governments should take from state shoulders the burden of collecting the taxes they spend, including the sales tax.

The governor told newsmen he will make recommendations for shifting the burden in his budget message to the Legislature, expected next week.

"We might recommend that the state get out of the sales tax field," DiSalle said.

He said sales taxes and other revenues were collected and spent locally in other states and asserted it could be done in Ohio.

"I would like to say to the local governments, 'You take the programs you administer and the state those it administers,'" the governor said.

He explained that annual subsidies from the state total nearly 198½ million dollars for schools, hospitals, pensions (police and firemen) and other services.

The state levied and collected more than 232 million dollars last year in taxes, part of which goes back to local governments. That made a total of 430½ million dollars annually in subsidies and collections primarily for local governments, the governor said.

DiSalle said he formed his opinions about local responsibilities during discussions with Finance Director James Malone in preparing the state's two-year budget. He said those studies showed a two-year total of 861 million dollars "for which the state has the responsibility of levying and collecting, but has no control over the spending."

Major requests for additional appropriations already approximate 170 million dollars for two years, including 104 millions in requests for schools. He said the state's financial cupboard will be bare by the end of this month because of a 44½ million dollar quarterly School Foundation payment.

The uncommitted balance at the end of January was $9,316,000. In addition, the state set aside 29 million dollars to apply on the February school payment.

Revenues collected this month will make up the balance of the money needed for the foundation payment and other expenses, the governor predicted.

"We will be about even at the end of the month," DiSalle said. "The days of surpluses are gone."

His figures showed that if spending continues on the present basis without any additional income, the state would run some 20 million dollars in the red in the next two years.

This means nothing additional for aid of the aged, nothing additional for mental health, nothing additional for education, nothing additional for salaries—nothing additional for anybody, he said.

The governor made these observations in support of his belief in greater local tax responsibility: "The more local responsibility that we have in these matters, the better."

Symington, who has been mentioned by some as a possibility for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, said he would favor more taxes if that meant greater security.

Symington, in a television interview said the nation needs these things to be secure:

(1) Strength to get up off the ground if attacked, and retaliate in turn and destroy the possible enemy; (2) assurance that the enemy knows the nation has such power; (3) ability to fight a limited war "effectively, efficiently and successfully."

Segni Sworn As Premier Of Italy

Christian Democrats Alone Form Latest Cabinet in Rome

ROME (AP) — Antonio Segni was sworn in today as head of Italy's government.

His Cabinet was made up entirely of members of his own Christian Democrat party, which has less than a majority in Parliament. Promised right-wing support from Liberals and Monarchists made Segni virtually sure of winning at least his first vote of confidence, probably within a week.

President Giovanni Gronchi swore Segni into office after approving his cabinet lineup.

Segni needed no parliamentary vote of confidence to assume office. But late this week or early next both the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate must approve the Cabinet. Failure to get this would force him to resign.

The 68-year-old leader's Cabinet is limited to Christian Democrats only. The party, although Italy's largest, is 26 votes short of the 299 necessary for a majority in the Chamber of Deputies. It falls four votes short of a Senate majority.

The Liberals, a right-of-center group with 4 seats in the Senate and 17 deputies, have agreed to back the Segni government on the first confidence votes. The new premier is expected to pick up the nine additional necessary deputies from the 23 Monarchists in the chamber.

Aminore Fanfani's left-of-center coalition of Christian Democrats and Democratic Socialists resigned three weeks ago.

Segni, a Sardinian, fashioned a government leaning slightly to the right. But his Cabinet includes one important man—Foreign Minister Giuseppe Pella—whose appointment could cause trouble with the Liberals.

Pella is identified with a policy of friendship for President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Zooming Car Crashes into Fuel Pumps

A zooming car played havoc with three gasoline pumps at Goodman's Service Station, Court and Watt Sts., early Sunday morning.

According to local police, an auto owned by Kelly L. Owens, Jr., 18, Route 1, Ashville, made a wild dash down N. Court St., smashed through the gas pumps, continued east on Watt St., then north on Pickaway St. before the auto finally was brought to a halt. Owens was arrested for driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Larry Goodman, station manager, said damage to his gas pumps was estimated at $2,000. He said two of the pumps were replaced yesterday afternoon.

Patrolmen Richard Blaney said Owens car dragged one of the pumps 87 feet into Watt St. and sent another scooting along for 62 feet. The crash also damaged two pylon lights on the gasoline pump island.

According to witnesses in a car which was passing by, they saw Owens' car coming south on Court St., at a high rate of speed, traveling in the wrong lane of traffic.

They said the auto suddenly swerved to the right near the Circleville Herald Office, then made a cutting left sweep into the station runway.

The witnesses said the car smashed through the pumps and continued on with no apparent effort to stop. In an attempt to stop the car, the witnesses said they turned east on High St. and caught the car at Pickaway St.

Owens told officers that he was traveling 90 miles per hour, although police doubted that the car was going that fast.

Big Darby Bridge Extension Likely, Says State Official

A 160-foot extension to the Route 104 bridge over Big Darby Creek is likely, it was reported today by a Jackson Twp. Committee.

The group, composed of Mrs. Marvyn Rhoades, George Mowery, Allen Hoover and Ed Wallace, state representative from Pickaway County, met Wednesday with officials of the Ohio Highway Department.

D. C. McCoy, Director of Bridges in the Highway Department, stated that plans for an additional 160-foot span are ready as soon as money is made available.

The estimated cost of the project is between $75-80,000 at no cost to the county. The project will be accomplished without necessity of a detour on Route 104.

THE COMMITTEE action with McCoy was a result of a recent meeting of Jackson Twp. and surrounding area residents who were damaged by the January 22 and 23 flood.

Residents were in accord that the low Big Darby bridge over Route 104 created a bottleneck that caused high water to back up into farm lands northwest of 104. Highway officials agreed.

An additional span would allow excessive water more room to flow under the bridge on into the Scioto, its only outlet. McCoy said he believed that money would be available in the near future and the bridge addition completed by summer's end.

McCoy stated the Highway Department may obtain Federal funds for extension of the bridge. Two other engineers were present at the meeting. One was Ralph Wood, former County resident.

Wood said he would contact the U. S. Army Engineers to see if any relief could be arranged in the rebuilding of the Big Darby levees that were eroded or washed away by the flood.

Rep. Wallace Urges Farmers To Check on Disaster Loans

Pickaway County farmers suffering loss or damage as a result of January's Scioto River flood today were urged to investigate Federal assistance available from the Farmers Home Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This suggestion was made by State Representative Ed Wallace after receiving a letter from Sixth Congressional District Representative James G. Polk.

Polk stated he had talked with an official in the Farmers Administration office in Washington D. C. and was advised that his Department had not received any word of widespread damage to farmers in this area.

Polk said he was therefore to contact the State Director of the Farmers Home Administration, whose job it is to notify the agency's Washington administrator when an emergency arises.

Polk urged Wallace and county residents to keep him advised concerning the county situation for he wants to do everything he possibly can to help the people in stricken areas.

FARMERS ELIGIBLE for production emergency loans must be an established owner or operator who is primarily engaged in farming and has suffered a substantial production loss because of flood;

It is unable to obtain from other lenders the credit required to continue his normal operations, and has reasonable prospects for success with the assistance of a loan.

Loans may be made for the purchase of feed, seed, fertilizer, replacement equipment and livestock; for other essential farm and home operating expenses.

And for the replacement or repair of buildings, fences, drainage and irrigation systems on individual farms that were damaged or destroyed by the disaster.

Loans may not be made for refinancing existing debts or to compensate applicants for their losses.

The interest rate is 3 per cent. Repayment schedules depend upon the purposes for which funds are advanced and upon the estimated income of the applicant.

Loans are secured by a first lien on all crops to be produced with the loan and on all livestock, farm machinery and farm equipment purchased with the loan funds;

Secondly, the best lien obtainable on all other crops growing or to be grown, and third, whenever necessary, the best lien obtainable on livestock, farm machinery and farm equipment already owned by the applicant.

Indiana Flood Moves South

Oaktown Farm Area Now Center of Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The farming area near Oaktown, Ind., became the main center of activity along the flooded Wabash River today as the danger in upstream communities appeared easing.

National Guardsmen were sent by Gov. Harold W. Handley into the Oaktown area, about 40 miles south of Terre Haute, to strengthen an old levee. A break in the levee would flood thousands of acres of farm land.

Dry weather prevailed in the flood zones and also in wide areas throughout the country east of the Rockies. The country's wettest region was in the Pacific Coast.

Officials in the flood sections of Indiana, which forced some 1,700 families from their homes last week, said barring heavy rains, the worst of the overflows appeared ended.

However, Weather Bureau officials said it would be two weeks before the Wabash falls below flood stage at West Terre Haute. A temporary dike of sandbags held Sunday against another small rise in the swollen river. A huge ice jam remained near Delphi although thawing temperatures over the weekend dislodged some big chunks.

Cooler weather moved into two separate sections east of the Continental Divide. Temperatures dropped in most areas from eastern Texas and the Gulf Coast to the Ohio River and to all of the Atlantic Seaboard except Florida.

Biggest drops were in New England, where readings were below zero in northern sections.

A second cold front extended from areas in Montana east of the Divide and into the Dakotas. The cold air headed into the central plains and eastward to the upper and middle Mississippi Valleys and the upper Great Lakes region.

For aid of the aged, nothing additional for mental health, nothing additional for education, nothing additional for salaries—nothing additional for anybody, he said.

The governor made these observations in support of his belief in greater local tax responsibility.

Pistol-Packing Boys Disarmed by Police

ATLANTA (AP) — Two pistol-packing youngsters were arrested by police who said the pair stole dynamite and guns so they could build a rocket ship and "play western like on TV."

The boys, aged 13 and 14, were arrested as they walked home from target practice in a field. Police said each had three pistols tucked in his belt. Officers said they found 154 sticks of dynamite, 305 caps, 17 pistols and 20 boxes of ammunition hidden in lofts of the homes where the boys lived.

The arsenal was taken from a lumber company and a hardware concern. Police quoted the boys as saying it was fun to steal when not attending eighth grade classes.

Local Agencies Should Gather Revenue-DiSalle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said today local governments should take from state shoulders the burden of collecting the taxes they spend, including the sales tax.

The governor told newsmen he will make recommendations for shifting the burden in his budget message to the Legislature, expected next week.

"We might recommend that the state get out of the sales tax field," DiSalle said.

He said sales taxes and other revenues were collected and spent locally in other states and asserted it could be done in Ohio.

"I would like to say to the local governments, 'You take the programs you administer and the state those it administers,'" the governor said.

He explained that annual subsidies from the state total nearly 198½ million dollars for schools, hospitals, pensions (police and firemen) and other services.

The state levied and collected more than 232 million dollars last year in taxes, part of which go back to local governments. That made a total of 430½ million dollars annually in subsidies and collections primarily for local governments, the governor said.

DiSalle said he formed his opinions about local responsibilities during discussions with Finance Director James Malone in preparing the state's two-year budget.

He said those studies showed a two-year total of 861 million dollars "for which the state has the responsibility of levying and collecting, but has no control over the spending."

Major requests for additional appropriations already approximate 170 million dollars for two years, including 104 millions in requests for schools. He said the state's financial cupboard will be bare by the end of this month because of a 44½ million dollar quarterly School Foundation payment.

The uncommitted balance at the end of January was $9,316,000. In addition, the state set aside 29 million dollars to apply on the February school payment.

Revenues collected this month will make up the balance of the money needed for the foundation payment and other expenses, the governor predicted.

"We will be about even at the end of the month," DiSalle said. "The days of surpluses are gone."

His figures showed that if spending continues on the present basis without any additional income, the state would run some 20 million dollars in the red in the next two years.

This means nothing additional for aid of the aged, nothing additional for mental health, nothing additional for education, nothing additional for salaries—nothing additional for anybody, he said.

The governor made these observations in support of his belief in greater local tax responsibility.

"The more local responsibility that we have in these matters, the

Change in Federal Taxes Doubtful

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark) has all but nipped chances for any tax cuts or increases this year—including President Eisenhower's proposed gasoline tax hike.

Mills, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, asked instead for a big revamping of the tax system. He said the present tax setup is outdated and stunts the nation's economic growth.

Mills spoke Sunday night to a conference of the Tax Executives Institute.

His remarks followed an earlier statement by House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) that Eisenhower's proposal to boost gasoline taxes 1 1/2 cent a gallon was unlikely to get much House support.

more chance there will be for the over-all tax bill to be smaller.

"I think that the tighter the control that people have over appropriations the more you will see that reflected in their approach to the levying of taxes."

"There is an almost aloofness between the legislative processes and the people in the local communities. How many citizens know that the state levies these taxes and that they are sent back to their own communities?"

"We estimate that it costs the state to administer these taxes about two million dollars a year."

The governor said the state is reimbursed for some of the administration cost.

Disalle indicated that he would recommend to the Legislature several ways for passing on to local governments the burden of tax administration. He said he would indicate his preference for one of those methods but would leave final determination up to the Legislature.

East-West Parley in Spring Proposed in German Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, Britain and France proposed to the Soviet Union today that a four-power foreign ministers conference on Germany be convened this spring with German advisers present.

A preference was expressed for late April or early May as the meeting time.

This is the first time the Western powers have called for inclusion within the conference room of representatives from Communist East Germany and Allied West Germany.

While they would have the role of advisers, the step could prove to be a historic move toward some compromise on the problem of re-unifying Germany.

The Western proposals were set forth in similar notes delivered in Moscow today.

U. S. officials opened up the possibility of a summit conference to follow if the foreign ministers meeting succeeded in making substantial progress on German issues.

These officials said that a top-level session which would bring together President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would not be excluded.

The immediate strategy behind the call for a foreign ministers conference is to get the Soviets to the conference table just prior to their deadline for handing over their occupation responsibilities in East Berlin to the East German government.

Last November, Khrushchev threatened such action after six months. The deadline would be May 27. It holds the danger of a new Communist blockade of Berlin.

The Western powers would prefer that the conference be held in Geneva or alternatively in Vienna. Officials said they also thought late April or early May would be the best time to start.

The note released at the State Department here said:

"The U. S. government is prepared to participate in a conference of the ministers of foreign affairs of the U. S. S. R., France, the United Kingdom and the United States, and is ready to consider any suggestions as to a date and place, which would be fixed by mutual agreement. The place and date should be settled through diplomatic channels."

"The conference should deal with the problem of Germany in all its aspects and implications."

The aspects which would be dealt with include such immediate issues as the Western demand for reunification of Germany, the Soviet plan to oust the Western powers from Berlin and to make a peace treaty with the two halves of Germany; and other issues related to Germany such as broad questions of European security and of the possibility of disengagement of Soviet and Western forces in central Europe.

Change in Federal Taxes Doubtful

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.) has all but nipped chances for any tax cuts or increases this year—including President Eisenhower's proposed gasoline tax hike.

Mills, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, asked instead for a big revamping of the tax system. He said the present tax setup is outdated and stunts the nation's economic growth.

Mills spoke Sunday night to a conference of the Tax Executives Institute.

His remarks followed an earlier statement by House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) that Eisenhower's proposal to boost gasoline taxes 1½ cent a gallon was unlikely to get much House support.

Local Agencies

more chance there will be for the over-all tax bill to be smaller.

"I think that the tighter the control that people have over appropriations the more you will see that reflected in their approach to the levying of taxes.

"There is an almost aloofness between the legislative processes and the people in the local communities. How many citizens know that the state levies these taxes and that they are sent back to their own communities?"

"We estimate that it costs the state to administer these taxes about two million dollars a year."

The governor said the state is reimbursed for some of the administration cost.

DiSalle indicated that he would recommend to the Legislature several ways for passing on to local governments the burden of tax administration. He said he would indicate his preference for one of those methods but would leave final determination up to the Legislature.

East-West Parley in Spring Proposed in German Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, Britain and France proposed to the Soviet Union today that a four-power foreign ministers conference on Germany be convened this spring with German advisers present.

A preference was expressed for late April or early May as the meeting time.

This is the first time the Western powers have called for inclusion within the conference room of representatives from Communist East Germany and Allied West Germany.

While they would have the role of advisers, the step could prove to be a historic move toward some compromise on the problem of reunifying Germany.

The Western proposals were set forth in similar notes delivered in Moscow today.

U.S. officials opened up the possibility of a summit conference to follow if the foreign ministers meeting succeeded in making substantial progress on German issues.

These officials said that a top-level session which would bring together President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would not be excluded.

The immediate strategy behind the call for a foreign ministers conference is to get the Soviets to the conference table just prior to their deadline for handing over their occupation responsibilities in East Berlin to the East German government.

Last November, Khrushchev threatened such action after six months. The deadline would be May 27. It holds the danger of a new Communist blockade of Berlin.

The Western powers would prefer that the conference be held in Geneva or alternatively in Vienna. Officials said they also thought late April or early May would be the best time to start.

The note released at the State Department here said:

"The U.S. government is prepared to participate in a conference of the ministers of foreign affairs of the U.S.S.R., France, the United Kingdom and the United States, and is ready to consider any suggestions as to a date and place, which would be fixed by mutual agreement. The place and date should be settled through diplomatic channels.

"The conference should deal with the problem of Germany in all its aspects and implications."

The aspects which would be dealt with include such immediate issues as the Western demand for reunification of Germany, the Soviet plan to oust the Western powers from Berlin and to make a peace treaty with the two halves of Germany; and other issues related to Germany such as broad questions of European security and of the possibility of disengagement of Soviet and Western forces in central Europe.

This huge nation has embarked upon an experiment which seeks to accomplish in one day what other nations normally take 20 years to do. This last sentence is in fact a Chinese Communist slogan: "Twenty years compressed into one day."

What is this communism they are after and how are they trying to achieve it? Is Chinese communism the same communism we task before summer without rail-roading the program.

Senate Majority Leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas) and Democrat Gov. Michael V. DiSalle share that optimism.

The last time Democrats controlled the Legislature, in 1949, the session ran deep into July.

Lantz got his drive under way this year without waiting for the governor's budget message, due about Feb. 23.

He formed a 12-member policy committee, told them to push action on platform bills and handed out pick and shovel orders to dig for tax pay dirt.

"We have got to take a long look at this tax picture," he said. "We have got to examine the additional tax sources within the framework of present laws."

"Plenty of studies are available. The facts are available. It requires initiative on the part of all of us to make them work for us. Now is the time for action."

Lantz coupled his plea for action with a warning about lobbyists.

"Some lobbyists like to wine and dine you," he said. "But when you ask them for facts, it appears they only want to court you."

The House speaker submitted an analysis of state revenues and expenditures since 1947, when war shortages ended, and projected them to mid-1963 under present policies.

The report said the rate of spending in 11 years increased twice as fast as general revenue income, depleted the state's surplus and would create a deficit of 122 to 234 million dollars if continued into '63.

At that rate, Lantz estimated a 100 million dollar tax increase now "would last about three years" before spending and inflation caught up. He made no mention of increased state "needs" that DiSalle says must be financed.

"It is difficult to conceive a policy of putting a damper on and holding the line in state programs," the report observed.

Some legislative veterans have predicted that this session may be the most expensive in Ohio history. DiSalle has kept his tax plans under wraps. But he indicated to newsmen that it may be difficult to hit his target date for the budget message outlining the administration program.

Besides a solution to tough money problems, DiSalle wants his budget to show for the first time since 1931 just what spending goes for, instead of listing some 170 items in general terms.

Lantz explained that he wants to be ready to implement the governor's budget when it arrives. Once the money problems and platform planks are disposed of, he expects the lawmakers to head for home. Other legislative leaders cautiously agree it can be done before summer.

They assert that elements of friction within the party have all but vanished to smooth the legislative road ahead. The battle with Republicans over supplemental unemployment benefits in the Senate, they claim, has solidified the Democrats more than at any time this session.

know in the Soviet Union or is it different in any material particulars?

Even the most casual traveler in Red China cannot but be struck with five aspects of the people and their economy. These are dress, the continuous din of broadcast propaganda, the country's extraordinary cleanliness, the tremendous labor effort, and the new position of women.

Take dress. Everyone, men and women of all ages, is dressed in blue trousers and buttoned-up coats with collars like the uniform of Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung. To a newcomer, men and women look almost alike, for all the women have taken to shoulder-length hobos.

It was explained to me that this new haircut, replacing the twin pigtail, saves time in washing and combing; and I must admit that this new hair style needs no attention. You run your comb through your hair and you are all set.

The second thing that no one can escape is the ubiquitous radio and the loudspeaker. This started when I boarded the train at Chumchun, the frontier station, taking me to Canton.

Even in a most backward and traditional village I saw a loudspeaker hidden in a treecrop. You can escape the sun and the moon but you cannot escape the radio and the loudspeaker. And what does this radio pour out day and night? Everything that the government approves.

This is the most important medium for approved news — news of the nation's progress, industrial output, how to make a smelter, how to defeat the American "imperialists," how to be a good Communist, how to be neat, how to denounce the rightists, how to be a train, how to kill a rat or a sparrow, how to cook a sweet potato — and a thousand other things, interspersed with traditional Chinese opera with its deafening gongs and cymbals and martial and marching songs.

The reason behind the loudspeaker is really a simple one. In a far-flung nation of 650 million, where literacy is not widespread and where, consequently, the printed word is relatively ineffective, the only way to reach the citizen is via the radio in the relaying loudspeaker which cannot be controlled and cannot even be turned off.

Ike's New Jet Not Overly Luxurious

RENTON, Wash. (AP)—The interior of President Eisenhower's new five-million-dollar jet transport won't be as plush as that of his present plane, Columbine III. The jet, designated the VC137, is well along on the assembly line at the Boeing Airplane Co. plant and is scheduled to be delivered to the Military Air Transport service in April.

The plane is a cousin of the commercial jets now coming into passenger service and will have a speed of 600 miles an hour.

Two other planes of the same type are due to come off the line in May and June. They will be at the disposal of the President, vice president and other top government officials.

The three identical VC137s will have advanced radio telephone equipment enabling the President and other officials to remain in touch with Washington from any part of the world.

The "President's room" will have comfortable seats for four and two day-bed type lounges. There will be no berths. Furnishings will be on the plain side.

The planes will cut flying time from Washington to California from the 8½ hours to about 5 hours. London and Paris will be about six hours away.

Despite Floods, Water Supply Worries Cities

Industry, Human Needs Climb Constantly as Population Increases

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Even when floods are front page news a large portion of the business population — and of city fathers, too — worries about the increasing dearth of water supplies.

Industry needs more each year. And per capita consumption mounts faster than the growth in population. The Interior Department reports that in the last five years more than 1,000 communities have had to ration water at some time or other.

The world has lots of water — but often in the wrong places or the wrong condition for human use.

Most is in the oceans. And schemes for conversion of salt water into fresh at reasonable cost is, in President Eisenhower's words, "on the threshold of solution."

Much of the available water is carried in cloud formations. And methods of getting it to earth where and when wanted are under constant study and trial.

Lots of the nation's water is concentrated in rivers that often overflow with costly damage. Flood control programs tackle both this problem and the salvaging of the water for later beneficial use.

The cost problem in turning sea water or brackish water into fresh is being tackled in a number of ways: solar distillation, evaporators that flash water into vapor under vacuum, a freezing process, a nuclear reactor sidekick, an electric membrane method.

The cost now averages out at $1.75 per thousand gallons. Science hopes to cut this to 50 or 75 cents within five years.

Congress has appropriated 10 million dollars for five experimental plants. And various corporations here and abroad are trying out schemes of their own.

CLEVELAND (AP) — With a garden hose wrapped around his waist, Sgt. Alexander McRoberts Andrews of the suburban Bratenahl police crawled 20 feet out on the ice of Lake Erie Sunday to rescue an 11-year-old boy.

The boy, John Hudnell, said he had "just wanted to look around" when he broke through the ice. Three friends saw him fall in and summoned William W. Cesa from his nearby home. He called police.

Greek, Turk Aides Arrive In London

LONDON (AP) — The heads of the Greek and Turkish communities on Cyprus arrived in London Sunday for the formal talks to arrange independence for Britain's east Mediterranean colony.

About 4,000 Greek Cypriots gave Archbishop Makarios a resounding welcome as the bearded leader arrived at London Airport from Athens.

About 200 flag-waving Turkish Cypriots were on hand when Dr. Fazil Kutchuk flew in from Nicosia and Ankara.

Makarios and Kutchuk will sit down Tuesday with the foreign ministers of Britain, Greece and Turkey in a parley to draw the final terms for the conversion of Cyprus into a republic.

Makarios was exiled by the British from Cyprus in 1956 because he refused to disavow the terror campaign of the EOKA underground. If agreement on the island's future is reached at the conference, he presumably will be allowed to return to his homeland at once so he can sell the agreement to the Greek Cypriots. The island's Greek majority is expected to choose him as the first president of Cyprus.

Mothers Plan Tight Rein on Kissing Boys

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—The two North Carolina boys involved in a kissing case are home from reform school. Their mothers say the lads won't get into trouble again.

The Negroes, James Hanover Thompson, 10, and David (Fuzzy) Simpson, 9, were released over the weekend for good behavior. They were committed there three months ago after they forced a kiss from a 6-year-old white girl.

The mothers, Mrs. Evelyn Thompson, 35, and Mrs. Jennie Simpson, 48, defended the boys.

Mrs. Thompson said in an interview that James "is really a good boy and maybe he got into scrapes because I couldn't give him the attention he needed. From now on I'm not going to let him out of my sight."

Mrs. Simpson said "Fuzzy got into scrapes before, but I think they had it in for him in that kissing case."

The boys will begin school here this week.

6 Children, Grandmother Die in Fire

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A mother returned home early Sunday to find rescue workers carrying the bodies of six of her children and her mother from the ruins of a fire.

A seventh child, Queen Esther Pitman, 6, survived when her grandmother told her to run out of the flaming house.

The victims were Mrs. Mary Reeves, 58, and her grandchildren, Wilbur Parker, 10; Terry Parker, 8; Harold Pitman, 7; Laurel Pitman, 3; Jeannie Pitman, 18 months, and Mary Elizabeth Pitman, 6 months.

The mother, Amelia Parker, 32, said she was visiting in South Bend. She returned an hour and a half after the fire had destroyed the four-room concrete block home one mile west of here.

Leslie Parker, father of the older children, was reported somewhere in Michigan. The little girl who survived said the fire started when burning coals popped out of a heating stove onto a pile of paper.

Prof Wonders What Makes Time 'Fly'

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) —Ever wonder why time flies? Dr. Harry Jerison of Antioch College is trying to find the answer.

The 33-year-old scientist is tackling the problem under a two-year contract between the college and the Air Force Office of Scientific Research of Air Research and Development Command.

The $25,503 contract will support the studies of the relationships between stress and psychological time.

Dr. Jerison, associate professor of psychology at the college and director of Antioch's engineering psychology research project, explains "psychological time" as the way an individual perceives time. "For instance," he said, "under certain circumstances, a person may say that 'time flies' or 'time drags.' We want to find out what causes these psychological time changes and how these changes correspond to reality."

His research will cover the problems of psychological effects of noise and the measurement of psychological stress as well as research on psychological time.

The Polish-born psychologist said that while the contract authorizes basic research, he does not rule out the possibility that he may come up with some practical suggestions relative to air force problems involving the effects of noise and stress on pilots' efficiency and comfort.

"We've been living on the allotment from aid to dependent children. The Red Cross is helping us now. They came out after their second flood and said they hadn't closed the books on us from the last time. They asked us to make out a list of things we needed. We don't want to ask for too much, but we sure haven't much left to start up with again."

He looked around his house. A soddened davenport, its cushions piled high. Two refrigerators stood in the kitchen. One has been damaged beyond repair. The other, brought to them by Red Cross after they moved back into their home the first time, was up on blocks, but its motor was missing.

"The motor got wet but I think it'll be all right after it's dried out," Kirchner said. "With a one-year-old daughter, we have to have a refrigerator. Dianne drinks lots of milk."

"But Dick (her husband) got sick in January 1951 and couldn't work for eight months. Then six years later, in January 1957, he had a recurrence. That's when he had lung surgery and hasn't been able to work since."

Kirchner got back to his work of attempting to repair a fan which was in a tired condition from two hitches of helping dry out the family's possessions. As he worked he started whistling. The song was an off-key version of "Down by the Old Mill Stream."

"Yeah," he said, "I know the Blanchard River was the inspiration for that song. Tell Taylor wrote it sitting on its banks just about a mile from our house. But it's a good old song and you can't get mad at the river. She's a nice, quiet stream when she behaves herself."

Squeeze on City Revenues

To no other branch of government is the tax situation more serious than that of municipalities. Practically every local government is confronted by the need for additional revenue, with no new sources immediately available. Costs of city government are mounting, due to increased wages for all classes of employees. Sources of revenue have been preempted or weakened, and few new fields of taxation are left open to local governments.

The national government has invaded the field of taxation to such an extent nothing has been left for city and country units to meet the need for more revenue. Limits have been set by law on the amount any city can levy in the way of taxes. In recent years budgets have been far short of demands, and authorities are becoming increasingly concerned over the outcome. Many plans have been studied to meet this situation. Some cities have levied a sales tax, others a special tax on incomes. Others are considering similar moves. Local governments will be forced to prune some of the fat off their expenditures or squeeze the taxpayers dry.

Who Sent Boss a Valentine?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Abner Joggle, president of the Acme Tiddlywinks Co., liked to open his own mail.

Riffing through a stack he came to an unusual letter. Unstamped, it merely bore a typed greeting: "To the nicest guy in the world," and found therein a small card adorned with crimson hearts and the following jingle:

"Roses are red, and violets are blue.

"You are our Valentine, Boss, we love you!"

The card was unsigned. Beaming with pleasure, Joggle handed it to Eloise Phleeb, his secretary. A look of utter disbelief came into her face.

"Did you send it?" asked Joggle.

"Me?" Miss Phleeb appeared horrified at the mere idea.

"You know, it's the first real Valentine I've received since I was in kindergarten," said Joggle.

"Who sent you one then?" inquired Miss Phleeb — and could have bitten off her tongue. She hadn't meant to say that. But the idea of anyone ever sending Joggle a valentine did seem rather unbelievable. So did the thought of him having ever gone to kindergarten.

Pretending not to notice her discomfiture, Joggle said amiably: "Well, I sure do appreciate this card. I wonder if you could circulate it around the office and find out who is responsible for it."

Dutifully, Eloise took the card and canvassed the office. The reactions ranged from startled wonder to outright indignation. Everyone denied sending the card. All stoutly pleaded innocent.

When Miss Phleeb reported to her boss her inability to find his office admirer, somehow Joggle didn't seem too surprised.

"The best kindness is always anonymous," he murmured.

Shortly before quitting time the entire office staff was summoned. As each one entered, he was handed a one-pound heart-shaped box of candy.

In dazed silence they listened as Joggle arose and said: "Someone really touched my heart this morning with an unexpected gesture of remembrance. But I want you to know the feeling expressed was mutual.

"The box of candy you have been handed is for your wife or sweetheart. But the $10 bonus each of you will receive on your next paycheck is my Valentine to you. Thank you one and all."

That night at dinner Joggle recounted the incidents of the day to his wife. That durable woman was most surprised of all.

"I wonder who really sent you the Valentine?" she said.

"I sent it myself," replied Joggle. "Just so I'd have an excuse to give them the candy and the bonus."

Mrs. Joggle's mind reeled. Was this her husband speaking, or a stranger?

"Now I've got the whole office staff off balance," said Joggle cheerfully. "They're so puzzled it'll be six months before one of them will get up the courage to ask for a raise."

"I always did say there was room for sentiment in business—if you know how to use it!"

We Must Steady Our Economy

By George Sokolsky

Fred G. Clark, who devotes himself to fighting the tides of destruction, defines the costs of operating any economic system as follows:

"The five costs which make up the selling price of any product, made anywhere in the world, under any system, at any time, are as follows:

"1. The cost of goods and services bought from others."

"2. The cost of payments to government (taxes)."

"3. The cost of wearing out tools (depreciation)."

"4. The cost of human energy (payroll and benefits)."

"5. The cost of using tools (profit)."

The essential difference between capitalism and Communism lies in the ownership of the means of production and distribution and the control of men's lives.

Under capitalism, the ownership is private; under socialism, it is governmental. Under capitalism, human beings control their own lives; under socialism, the government controls men's lives. Soviet Russia holds to the socialist theory; the United States, to the capitalist theory. Both operate under mixed systems; that is systems which are neither capitalistic nor socialistic.

The selling price of all commodities determines the standard of living of a people and therefore their social characteristics. It also determines the value of money which is either stable or fluctuates, and it can fluctuate little or violently.

When it fluctuates violently, it is called an inflation and means that the consumer has lost confidence in his currency and is getting rid of it for commodities or services as fast as he can. In fact, he gets into debt expecting that ultimately he will pay his debts in money worth less than when he contracted the debt. Money can lose altogether in value like the Confederate dollar, the Kerensky rouble or the Chinese yuan.

It makes no difference whether currency is paper or metal; what does matter is that those who use the currency have confidence not only in its purchasing power but in its value subsequent to being saved or invested and its value to replace obsolescence. Most confidence exists in currency based on gold reserves.

Most Americans do not think of taxes as a cost. At the present moment, it is the most significant cost of living. It reduces family income and family possessions. It has serious social effects in the relationship of parents and children.

Taxes can reduce an entire population to dependence upon government which politically means that the republican system, that is, government by choice, will disappear before the tremendous power of government by self-perpetuation which is the characteristic of monarchies and plutocracies such as the Russian system.

When a government official says that he will not compromise over a tax bill, he talks nonsense. He has no authority not to compromise with the legislative representatives of the people or with public opinion. Obstinacy and wilfulness are not evidences of strength; they are most often evidences of immaturity. The Constitution stipulates that the power of the purse originates in the House of Representatives.

Because of our current inflation point No. 3, namely, depreciation, is never calculated correctly. The tax laws forbid it. Depreciation, to be accurate, must be measured in terms of replacement, not the original cost. A house that cost $10,000 say 10 years ago, will cost about $30,000 to build today. For tax purposes, we measure obsolescence on the original cost, but nobody can replace a building, a machine, or anything for what it cost when it was bought.

Here then is another tax cost which must be taken into account in measuring costs, as somewhere a fund must be set aside to take care of obsolescence. Profits, in the United States, both before and after taxes, are small compared with profits in similar enterprises in other countries. Sometimes three, sometimes four income taxes are taken out of a single profit before the investor can call it his own.

One of the results of this excessive taxation is that money seeking larger profits is now going to other countries. Thus the trend of the flow of capital has been reversed; now tremendous amounts of American capital flow to other countries whereas before world capital flowed here. This has resulted in a depletion of our gold reserve and the increase of the gold reserve of other countries.

This may become the most serious economic problem facing the American people, unless we quickly resolve it by purchasing American gold at an American price irrespective of what price obtains in world markets.

Arthritis Tough To Diagnose

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

So you think you have arthritis? Don't be too sure.

The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation recently revised the criteria for the diagnostic classification of patients with rheumatoid arthritis. They have made them more definite.

The Foundation says that a diagnosis of classical rheumatoid arthritis requires at least seven of the following:

1. Morning stiffness.
2. Pain on motion or tenderness in at least one joint.
3. Swelling in at least one joint.
4. Swelling of at least one other joint.
5. Symmetrical joint swelling with simultaneous involvement of the same joint on both sides of the body.
6. Subcutaneous nodules over bony prominences on exterior surfaces or in the juxta-articular regions.
7. X-ray changes of typical rheumatoid arthritis.
8. Positive agglutination test.
9. Poor mucin precipitate from synovial fluid (with shreds and cloudy solution).
10. Characteristic histologic changes in the articular membrane.
11. Characteristic histologic changes in nodules.

In addition, there are other qualifications on some of these individual points.

For example, in Numbers one through five, the joint symptoms must continue for a period of at least six weeks before the trouble can be considered as rheumatoid arthritis.

For a diagnosis of definite rheumatoid arthritis, at least five of the points must be present. And for a diagnosis of possible rheumatoid arthritis, at least two of them must be observed by a physician.

So you see it isn't possible to diagnose accurately a case of rheumatoid arthritis simply from a complaint of a stiff elbow or knee.

Diagnosing is a job for the physician. And even he must make a careful and prolonged examination before he can say definitely that the trouble is arthritis.

Oxford Hospital Gets Exemption on Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Board of Tax Appeals has exempted from taxation all tangible personal property belonging to the board of trustees and used in McCullough - Hyde Memorial Hospital at Oxford.

Trustees asked the exemption for the 1958 tax year on grounds the property was used for charitable purposes. They also asked for exemption of intangible personal property, but the appeals board said it has no authority to grant such a request.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Foster Dulles' six years as secretary of state have been more than unique. They provided the heart and guidelines of an era which now, whether or not he returns to full-time duty, may have to change.

President Truman trusted Secretary of State Dean Acheson. But President Eisenhower's confidence in Dulles has been so extraordinary that it seems accurate to say the secretary almost completely dominated foreign policy.

The Dulles years have been an era of standoff by the West and communism in which they gathered strength for any future tests. The first great test of this period is approaching in Germany.

Three times at least before Dulles became secretary—during the Truman-Acheson administration—world communism tried its muscles in a major way to see how much will the West had to resist.

Three times it failed because it was resisted—in the Berlin blockade, in the Korean War, in the pressure on Greece and Turkey in the late 1940s.

These pushes were stopped by the Truman-Acheson policy—called containment—of building military bases and alliances around the Communist world and by its willingness to fight, as it showed in Korea.

The Communist world—especially the Soviet part of it—realized it had some growing to do. It subsided, at least temporarily, behind its frontiers and avoided major crises.

There was never any doubt it would push hard again, when it thought it could.

The Truman-Acheson policy has been Dulles' basic policy. He adopted it, made it his own, and expanded it with new alliances.

He brought to it enormous energy and dedication, as his 560,000 miles of travel around the earth testify. These were essentially journeys to keep the fences mended. There was a something almost heroic in this man's determination to do everything himself.

Because Dulles has pursued this containment policy relentlessly, he has been accused of being too rigid, too unbending, or, to use a phrase recently become popular, too inflexible.

True, he made few if any concessions to the Communists. But they made few, if any, either.

Just because Dulles devoted himself so thoroughly to the stand-off policy it is hard to recall anything which history could point to as original in his six years.

That does not mean history will find fault with his six years of stewardship as a whole, although it may quarrel with pieces of it. Perhaps in this era the Dulles policy was the only sensible one.

One thing is sure: In those six years, except for the conquest of half of Viet Nam and perhaps scattered islands near China, world communism has not obtained an extra inch of real estate.

But now the Soviets, after hibernating for years, are fully conscious of their power, as they demonstrated with their missile claims. As if to mark the end of a period, they are pushing again.

They have made demands—in calling for a Western withdrawal from West Berlin—which involve not only this country's containment policy but its relations with its allies, its position in Europe, and the future of Germany.

And if the Soviets feel powerful enough now to push in Germany, they may also feel ready to push elsewhere.

Because of the crisis over Germany, American foreign policy will undergo one of its severest tests. Containment may no longer work. New policies may be needed. It seems unlikely Dulles will be well enough to make them, if they are made.

It is ironic that at this moment—when Dulles is stricken with cancer—Soviet pressure may show that his policy has reached the end of its usefulness.

HUMORIST HARRY HERSHFIELD, visiting Israel, encountered a frail old rabbi and asked, "What is your weekly salary here?" "Five dollars," sighed the rabbi. "How can you live on that?" exclaimed Hershfield.

"The lucky thing," explained the rabbi, "is that I'm a very religious man. If I didn't fast three times a week, I'd go hungry."

A very stout, very agitated lady rushed up to a train gate at Grand Central and gasped, "Can I still catch the 4:30 for Boston?"

"That depends on how fast you can run, lady," the guard informed her. "The train left here two minutes ago."

Woman Reporter Beaming; She's Proud of U.S. Women

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—This is one of those times when I'm proud of women.

Assembled here this weekend are America's leading ladies in the field of communications. They are arriving by land and by air from all over the country to help celebrate the 50th anniversary of the nation's first school of journalism.

The school was founded at the University of Missouri because of the dream of a working newspaperman, the late Dean Walter Williams, who never graduated from college but acquired a long list of honorary degrees.

These are working women, many of them graduates of the school, who have beaten their way to the top in the fields of newspapers, magazines, advertising, television and radio.

Most of them lead not only double but multiple lives—as career women, wives and mothers. All of them had to sit up nights getting their work ahead so they could be here.

There's Margot Sherman, vice president of one of New York's biggest advertising agencies, named Advertising Woman of the Year for 1958, married to a lawyer, mother of two children, who manages home, business and extra-curricular community work with practiced ease, pleased as a debutante at the student ovation after her speech.

There's Inez Robb, columnist, wit, lifelong newspaperwoman and doting wife, who says: "It's more important to be a successful woman than to have the world's most important job."

Many of the women here for this program are competitors but if there is rivalry, it doesn't show. At a similar meeting of men, I'm inclined to think there would be a number of oblique verbal knife thrusts.

But women who have to run jobs, homes and families all at once don't have time to be petty. They're all pleased at each other's success.

And that's what I like about women—busy women, that is.

Green Eggs Being Laid For Easter?

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Easter is a long way off, but Brigitte already is doing her part. She's laying green eggs.

It's not the easiest thing to do. And there's very little percentage. So little, in fact, that she decided to stop.

Once, twice, thrice she tried to lay an ordinary egg. In vain.

Any self-respecting hen's tail feathers would ruffle at such a thing. Each time she shoved the offending objects out of her nest to the hen house floor, where their bright greenness shone for all to see and cackle about.

Poor Brigitte. Only one thing was left to do.

She quit laying.

Worried about her frustrated hen, Mrs. C. Martine took it up with poultry expert Charles Salverson of the University of California.

"Oh," said he, "we've had green eggs before, most recently in neighboring Orange County. It is the reaction of oxidants in the air on the moist shell of the newly laid egg."

That's another way of saying smog caused it.

Woman Reporter Beaming; She's Proud of U.S. Women

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—This is one of those times when I'm proud of women.

Assembled here this weekend are America's leading ladies in the field of communications. They are arriving by land and by air from all over the country to help celebrate the 50th anniversary of the nation's first school of journalism.

The school was founded at the University of Missouri because of the dream of a working newspaperman, the late Dean Walter Williams, who never graduated from college but acquired a long list of honorary degrees.

These are working women, many of them graduates of the school, who have beaten their way to the top in the fields of newspapers, magazines, advertising, television and radio.

Most of them lead not only double but multiple lives—as career women, wives and mothers. All of them had to sit up nights getting their work ahead so they could be here.

There's Margot Sherman, vice president of one of New York's biggest advertising agencies, named Advertising Woman of the Year for 1958, married to a lawyer, mother of two children, who manages home, business and extra-curricular community work with practiced ease, pleased as a debutante at the student ovation after her speech.

There's Inez Robb, columnist, wit, lifelong newspaperwoman and doting wife, who says: "It's more important to be a successful woman than to have the world's most important job."

Many of the women here for this program are competitors but if there is rivalry, it doesn't show.

At a similar meeting of men, I'm inclined to think there would be a number of oblique verbal knife thrusts.

But women who have to run jobs, homes and families all at once don't have time to be petty. They're all pleased at each other's success.

And that's what I like about women—busy women, that is.

Dear Abby...

Longest War in History

DEAR ABBY: I have been having quite a few arguments lately about who really won the Civil War. I have some friends from Florida who say the South won. We looked it up in the Encyclopedia and it favors the North. They say it favors the North because it was printed in the North. In school I was always taught that the North won. They claim that in the South they are taught that the South won. I can't possibly understand how it can be taught differently as only one side could have won. I would appreciate it very much if you would settle this for me.

DEAR CONFUSED: Put all your Confederate money on the South.

DEAR ABBY: I was sitting in a restaurant minding my own business when a very nice looking girl (about 22) came up to me and said "Can I have your phone number or do you want mine?" I was so stunned I said, "Sorry, but you must have me confused with some body else." Then she went away and I saw her go sit with a man who I presume was her date. She looked like a lady. She was pretty and well-dressed and very clean looking. Am I just a green chick or is this the way people get acquainted nowadays? Maybe I'm missing something.

STILL STUNNED: DEAR STUNNED: You got what is commonly known as the "direct approach." She may have looked like a lady, but I assure you she was not. You missed some thing all right—a lot of trouble!

DEAR ABBY: We are a couple over 70 years old. We have lived as man and wife for over fifty years. Everyone takes it for granted that we are married. (We have five children and 21 grandchildren.) Now we would like to get our social security and since we have no record of our marriage we don't know how to go about it without shocking the whole community where we have lived for 45 years.

MY MAN AND ME: DEAR MY: Go to a lawyer (it need not be one in your own community) and give him the facts. He can tell you where you can be quietly married and the matter will be kept confidential.

DEAR ABBY: I am expecting a baby in about two months and this being our first child, we are very excited about it. My husband's father takes pictures as a hobby. He always carries two or three different kinds of cameras with him. He says he is going to the hospital when I am there in labor and is going to take pictures of my husband when he is in the waiting room. Don't you think we would be justified in not letting his parents know until after the baby is already born?

NOT LAUGHING: DEAR NOT: Your peace of mind at this time is worth more than a picture of your husband pacing the floor. Let your husband call them when it's all over.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN LOVE WITH AN ICE-BERG": There are all kinds of "icebergs"—some are known as "dry ice"—too hot to handle.

7-Foot-1 High Jump Is Target

NEW YORK (AP)—John Thomas calmly predicted today he will high jump 7 feet, 14 inches in the National AAU Indoor Track and Field Championships Saturday.

No one in history ever has propelled himself that high—indoors or outdoors. The world outdoor record is 7.1 by the Soviet Union's Yuri (Elevator Shoe) Stanovov.

The amazing 17-year-old Boston University freshman cleared an even 7-feet for the second time in three weeks in the New York Athletic Club Games in Madison Square Garden last Saturday and just did miss at 7-1.

Ollie Matson of the Chicago Cardinals led National Football League players in returning kickoff last year. He took 14 for 597 yards.

Pirates Strong Around 'Middle'

By DANNY MURTAUGH
Pittsburgh Pirates

WOODLYN, Pa. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates are once again relying on the old baseball axiom, "strength through the middle," to put them back in the first division.

Personally, I think we compare very favorably with the other clubs in our league down the middle. That is, catching, pitching, second, short and center field.

Smoky Burgess, Hank Foiles and Danny Kravitz will do the job behind the bat. I'll get the pitching after a bit. It is around second base that I'm most delighted. Our club is very strong there.

In Bill Mazeroski, our second baseman, I feel we have one of the coming greats in baseball. This boy is only 22 years old and has already played three years in the majors. Last season he set a club record of 19 home runs by a second baseman. I've been in baseball 20 years and have never seen a pivot man his equal.

Dick Groat, our shortstop, is one of the most under-rated players in our league. Every good team must have a capable leader and Groat fits that capacity.

We have a very fine defensive center fielder named Billy Virdon.

I think that our true strength will lie in our pitching staff.

In Bob Friend we have one of the top right-handers in the league—a 22-game winner last year.

Ronnie Kline was our tough luck pitcher in 1958. I feel that if we give Kline the same batting support that we gave several of our other pitchers last season, he can become a 20-game winner.

We also have Harvey Haddix, a fine pitcher whom he obtained in the recent trade with Cincinnati, along with Burgess and third baseman Don Hoak in the Frank Thomas transaction.

Then there is Vernon Law, who won 14 games for us last year, and Elroy Face, a very fine relief pitcher. We have two excellent young right-handers, George Witt and Curt Raydon, coming back. Last year they won 18 games between them although neither was with us a full year.

We gave up a very fine power hitter in Thomas but I feel Burgess, with his big bat, and Hoak, with his great all-around ability, will offset Frank's loss.

drove in 70 runs last year and hit 12 home runs. Of the 70, most came after he was placed in the cleanup spot, and that's where he'll be this year. The other RBI man is Dick Stuart, the rookie first baseman. If the boy can live up to his potential, he can be one of the most powerful sluggers in the league. He hit 15 homers and close to 50 RBIs in a half season in 1958.

U.S. Bobsled Team Wins World Title

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP)—Art Tyler, 43-year-old Weston, Mass., physicist, has given the United States its first world four-man bobsled title in six years. And with it came the renewed hope that the 1960 Winter Olympics may again include bobsled competition.

Tyler, who didn't take up the sport until he was 35, conquered the tricky and treacherous mile-long chute and the world's best bobsleers Sunday as he posted a total time of 5 minutes, 10.82 seconds for four runs.

Tyler's time, including a record run of 1:17.42 in Saturday's second heat, gave the American sled a margin of 35 hundredths of a second over the second place Italian sled, piloted by Sergio Zardini. The Italians were clocked in 5:11.17.

International bobsled officials figure the American victory will arouse new interest in the sport in the United States and thus may help swing the International Olympic Committee toward permitting a separate Olympic bobsled event at Lake Placid, N. Y., in 1960.

However, Tyler is not likely to represent the United States in 1960. He told newsmen after his victory that he had decided to quit racing because of his wife's request after seeing several accidents in warm-up races.

Tyler's triumph was the seventh American four-man title since the world championships were first held in 1924. The last American to win was Lloyd Johnson of Madison, Wis., at Garmisch in 1933.

60-Game Program Awaiting Ohio's Collegiate Cagers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's collegiate cagers bang into their biggest spree of the campaign this week—a 60-game program which could shake up the standings.

Of the 60 contests, six are in the Mid-American loop, 10 in the Ohio Conference, five in the Mid Ohio, three in the Presidents' and one each in the Missouri Valley and Big Ten. Twenty-eight are against out-of-state opponents.

One game is certain to produce a new loop leader. That pops up Saturday at Findlay as Wilmington's Quakers and the Oilers, deadlocked at 7-2 for the Mid-Ohio League top spot, clash in what could be the deciding scrap.

Muskingum and Capital, tied for third in the Ohio Conference at 8-3, get a chance to play giant killer Tuesday. The Muskies entertain Akron's statewide pacesetters (17-1) and second in the league with 8-0. Capital is host to Wittenberg, second in the state with 14-1 and top team in the loop with 10-0.

Cincinnati and Ohio State return to action after sitting on the sidelines last week.

Ohio squads boast a 156 to 112 edge over out-of-state teams after losing nine of 16 to the outsiders last week. Host teams fared better, winning 27 and losing 18 to move the home floor edge record to 323 to 154 for the season.

Miami appears set for its third straight Mid-American crown. The Redskins enjoy a two-game lead over Bowling Green. In Saturday's games, Miami whipped Kent State 64-46, and Ohio U. trounced Bowling Green 89-67 to open up the big spread. The Bee-Gees have three loop games on tap this week, Miami one.

The week's top attractions figure to be:

Monday: Bowling Green at Kent State, Toledo at Ohio U., Bluffton at Findlay, Xavier at Western Kentucky.

Tuesday: Akron at Muskingum, Wittenberg at Capital, Miami at Cincinnati, Dayton at Duquesne.

Wednesday: Western Michigan at Bowling Green.

Thursday: Findlay at Huntingdon, Ind.

Friday: Wabash at Akron.

Saturday: Ohio State at Iowa, Ohio U. at Bowling Green, Toledo at Miami, Wittenberg at Hiram, Wilmington at Findlay, Case Tech at Wayne, John Carroll at Western Reserve, Cincinnati at Wichita, Louisville at Dayton, Marquette at Xavier.

Chillicothe CC, Kingston, Huntington Cop Victories

Kingston's 73-46 victory over Southeastern was the only easy win recorded Saturday night in the Ross County Tournament being played in the Circleville gymnasium.

Paint Valley stumbled and was defeated, 72-70, by Chillicothe Central Catholic and Huntington fought off a determined Centralia, 51-50.

Southeastern battled the Redskins fairly even in the first half, falling behind, 13-10, at the end of the first period, but matching Kingston's 19 points in the second stanza to trail at halftime, 32-29.

Led by the deadly shooting of Dave Nogle and Bill Carmean, Kingston roared to a comfortable 49-34 third quarter lead, scoring 17 points to Southeastern's five.

THE REDSKINS were able to break through Southeastern's defense and score close under the bucket. Southeastern started the game with a man-to-man defense, but switched to a zone until it fell behind in the third canto.

For the remainder of the game Southeastern utilized a man-to-man full court press. Kingston started with a 3-2 zone but went into a 1-2-2 defense in the second quarter and held with it for the last three quarters.

Nogle captured scoring honors with 21 points on drives as did teammate Carmean with 18 markers. Between these two juniors, who played their best game of their careers, a total of 39 points were scored.

Southeastern's Carrico and Hatfield each nabbed 14 points for their teams' leadership. Both hit from the outside. A total of 32 fouls were called, 11 on Kingston and 21 on Southeastern.

Kingston shot a torrid 47 per cent from the field, notching 28 of 60 attempts compared to Southeastern's 20 of 62 for 32 per cent. The Redskins fared as well from the charity line, connecting on 17 of 26 offerings for 65 per cent. Southeastern swished through six of 14 for 43 per cent.

PAIN VALLEY had one of its off nights Saturday and Chillicothe CC capitalized for a two-point win. PV, Ross County League champs with a clean slate, led at halftime, 35-38.

Chillicothe CC, Kingston, Huntington Cop Victories

Kingston's 73-46 victory over Southeastern was the only easy win recorded Saturday night in the Ross County Tournament being played in the Circleville gymnasium.

Paint Valley stumbled and was defeated, 72-70, by Chillicothe Central Catholic and Huntington fought off a determined Central in a 51-50.

Southeastern battled the Redskins fairly even in the first half, falling behind, 13-10, at the end of the first period, but matching Kingston's 19 points in the second stanza to trail at half time, 32-29.

Led by the deadly shooting of Dave Nogle and Bill Carman, Kingston roared to a comfortable 49-34 third quarter lead, scoring 17 points to Southeastern's five.

THE REDSKINS were able to break through Southeastern's defense and score close under the bucket. Southeastern started the game with a man-to-man defense, but switched into a zone until it fell behind in the third canto.

For the remainder of the game Southeastern utilized a man-to-man full court press. Kingston started with a 3-2 zone but went into a 1-2-2 defense in the second quarter and held with it for the last three quarters.

Nogle captured scoring honors with 21 points on drives as did teammate Carman with 18 markers. Between these two juniors, who played their best game of their careers, a total of 39 points were scored.

Southeastern's Carrico and Hatfield each nabbed 14 points for their teams' leadership. Both hit from the outside. A total of 32 fouls were called, 11 on Kingston and 21 on Southeastern.

Kingston shot a torrid 47 per cent from the field, notching 28 of 60 attempts compared to Southeastern's 20 of 62 for 32 per cent.

The Redskins fared as well from the charity line, connecting on 17 of 26 offerings for 65 per cent. Southeastern swished through six of 14 for 43 per cent.

PAINT VALLEY had one of its off nights Saturday and Chillicothe CC capitalized for a two-point win. PV, Ross County League champs with a clean slate, led at halftime, 35-38.
